

Regarding Quantum car parking

Well what can I say, when you told me about Quantum car parking I listened and took it on board. If it at come from anybody else I may have dismissed the claim laughing and never tried it or tried it without making the effort to believe it could work. But as you are a friend I thought I would give it a go and on our next trip to the supermarket before starting the car I sat, in my minds eye I could see the exact space I wanted, so I asked for it. I didn't say anything to my partner Sharon who keep interrupting my thoughts with chat about the trip to the supermarket. With these interruptions I ended up asking 3 times for the space. When we arrived at Tescos I was following two cars into the car park, has these two cars passed the occupied space I had asked for the car in the space started to move. I stopped allowed the car to drive away and turned into the space.

I sat there feeling quite pleased with myself and also quite spooky even more so when the two cars at the side of me pulled away leaving two more spaces, were these I had also asked for!

This is when I confessed to my partner what I had done and then I rang David Knight. At this stage even if David had said "How the hell did you do that I was only joking" I would have taken it on the chin, had a laugh --- BUT HE DIDNT

The Quantum Gift

Although at times I have struggled with the program and still only managed to get to stage 5 due to a very busy household, it has brought home how much little time I spend on myself.

Having now completed my vision board of what I would like to attract now and a second board for what I would like to attract for later life. I look at these boards daily as I enter my office.

These boards have been in place now a few weeks and as I look at them now I can see things I have already attracted. I see things I already had but did not appreciate.

On the boards I started with the basic's that we all want health, love and money. When I started on this program I was under the doctor with very high blood pressure, although I still have to visit the doctors my blood pressure is down to where it should be.

Love, this is something I already had from a loving partner and family that sometimes with the daily grind you don't appreciate. Now every day I am reminded by my vision board what I have.

Money, I pinned a picture of a ten pound note on my board and last Friday I picked up £400 in cash from a job , Sat £250 and last night ( Tuesday ) I picked up £500 and I still have more to come.

Can't wait to start disc 6
